U.S. halts all attacks on North Vietnam

ALL UNITED STATES attacks on North Vietnam, by air, sea and land-based artillery were halted at 3 p.m. Cyprus time on Friday, 1 November, 1969 following an announcement by President Johnson late on Thursday night that he had given orders as Commander-in-chief of U.S. armed forces.

The President added that the Paris peace talks on Vietnam would be widened in scope from today to include the South Vietnam government delegates and representatives of the so-called national liberation front which is the political arm of the communist Vietcong.

Mr Johnson ordered the cessation of bombing without any public agreement by North Vietnam guaranteeing reciprocal military de-escalation by the North, a major point in the U.S. attitude to previous calls for an unconditional halt.

It is anticipated that fighting will continue in South Vietnam, but the United States has "reason to believe" that Hanoi will not take advantage of the demilitarized zone, between the North and South, and halt the bombardment of South Vietnamese cities.

Diplomatic observers said there appeared to be a large measure of "faith" in President Johnson's order calling off the bombers entirely.

In Paris United States negotiators were "hopeful" that the Saigon government would take part in the new phase of the Vietnam peace talks so that it could move on to substantive discussion on the future of South Vietnam.

TURKISH/GREEK CYPRIOT OFFICIALS AT RECEPTION

Greek Cypriot officials were among hundreds of guests who attended a reception in Nicosia's Turkish quarter, last week, to mark the 45th anniversary of the Turkish Republic. This was the first time in almost five years that a meeting of this kind has taken place in Cyprus.

It is not unusual to see Sgt Alfred Dier of the Austrian Field Hospital with a string of cameras' around his neck as was the case on Saturday, 26 October, 1968. The occasion was the visit of Gen Martola for the Austrian Day celebrations. Most of the hospital staff were on parade, hence Sgt Dier ends up photographing for all the staff with their cameras.

Hörde du?

Ja, hörde du FN-programmet över Cyperns Radio i söndags, då vi fick information och tips av olika representanter för bataljonstaben i Famagusta. I fortsättningen kommer zonpressofficeren att besöka olika camper och förläggningar med mikrofonen i näven för att få med så många röster som möjligt med många synpunkter och bidrag — muntliga och musikaliska - som möjligt. Programmet återkommer som sagt var tredje söndag.

Och alla ni som har tips på kända och okända förmågor - alla kategorier - är välkomna till Zonpressoff, HQ, Nicosia. Väl mött på OP och camper - och i etern!

Första vakten på Headquarters

Det blev tredjekompanister från Larnaca, som fick uppdraget att först av 41:orna svara för vakthållningen vid Headquarters i Nicosia. En vecka var vakar varje kontingent över ordning och säkerhet vid HQ, innan "kollegerna" tar över.

En kort ceremoni i måndags morse med vaktavlösning av danskarna inledde tredjekompanisternas HQ-jobb, och nu möts de som passerar HQ:s grindar av en stram honnör och en forskande blick från en svensk. Eller hur?

IT'S ALL HAPPENING AT KOPHINO!

BRITCON NEWS

Major J. Morrish, OC Kophinou Coy, briefs the CDS, on Tango.

Kophinou Compound, The Royal Hampshires nearest Company HQ to Nicosia, has been as busy as a fruit stall on the Appian Way, since Major John Morrish moved in with men of A Coy. There have been numerous visitors, ranging from the Padre, Capt Tony Appleby, to Mrs Anne Duncan-Jones, BBC Talks producer, who did some recording on life at Kophinou. Incidentally the edited version should be broadcast on 'Outlook' at 1600 hrs, on any day! Her presence caused delight and common interest, as opposed to alarm and despondency, and no one was seen climbing over the fence after she had departed.

The most distinguished visitor of the week was the CDS, Air Marshal Sir Charles Ells-worthy, who visited the Compound at 1000 hrs on Tues 29 Oct. The CDS was met at the heli-pad by Col D.B. Riddell-Webster, 'COMBRITCON', and Lt Col W.R.B. May, Commanding Officer.

A Quarter Guard was inspected and the CDS asked Pte Maurice Wilson how the weather compared with Salisbury Plain. Pte Wilson offered one of his famous smiles and commented favourably, despite the rather dull, cloudy morning.

After an 'Ops' briefing, the CDS travelled by Landrover to 'Tango' OP, where Major Morrish gave a comprehensive briefing on the local situation. The climb up the hill was a warning of worse things to come in the winter as it proved a slippery drive after the previous night's rainstorms. From 'Tango', the CDS returned to the heli-pad and bade farewell.

CAROBS GALORE!

Paphos District was not so long ago, a hive of activity in the gathering of carobs, that had been used in making gum, sweetmeats and fodder. They might like to know how the carob economy fared.

By August 31, 1968 some 42,459 tons of carobs were exported, 88.1% to UK. In the Melon Industry 1,167 tons of water melons and 181 tons of mainly honey dew melons were exported to UK, by the end of September.

VIP VISIT

On Wednesday, 6 November, a helicopter visited Paphos. On board was Lieut. Gen. A.E. Martola, Force Commander and personalities from Headquarters. Next week 'Britcon News' will cover their visit.
